TOGETHER FOREVER

When you're down and troubled
And you need a helping hand
And nothing, oh nothing is going right
Close your eyes and think of me
And soon I will be there
To brighten up even your darkest nights

You just call out my name
And you know wherever I am
I'll come running . . . to see you again

Winter, Spring, Summer or Fall
All you got to do is call
And I'll be there

. . . . You've got a Friend

James Taylor

Times to remember
Times of joy
Times of sorrow
Days of laughter
Days of tears
Nights with friends
And nights spent alone
All part of our lives
All times to hold dear
To look back fondly
On our years in high school
While waiting for the door
To open on our futures
Standing on the threshold
Of new lives
Yet always holding onto
The memories we have
The friends we have made
And as we move on Always looking back
At the times we spent
Beyond the other door
Nancy Deutsch

Administration

To The Class Of 1989:

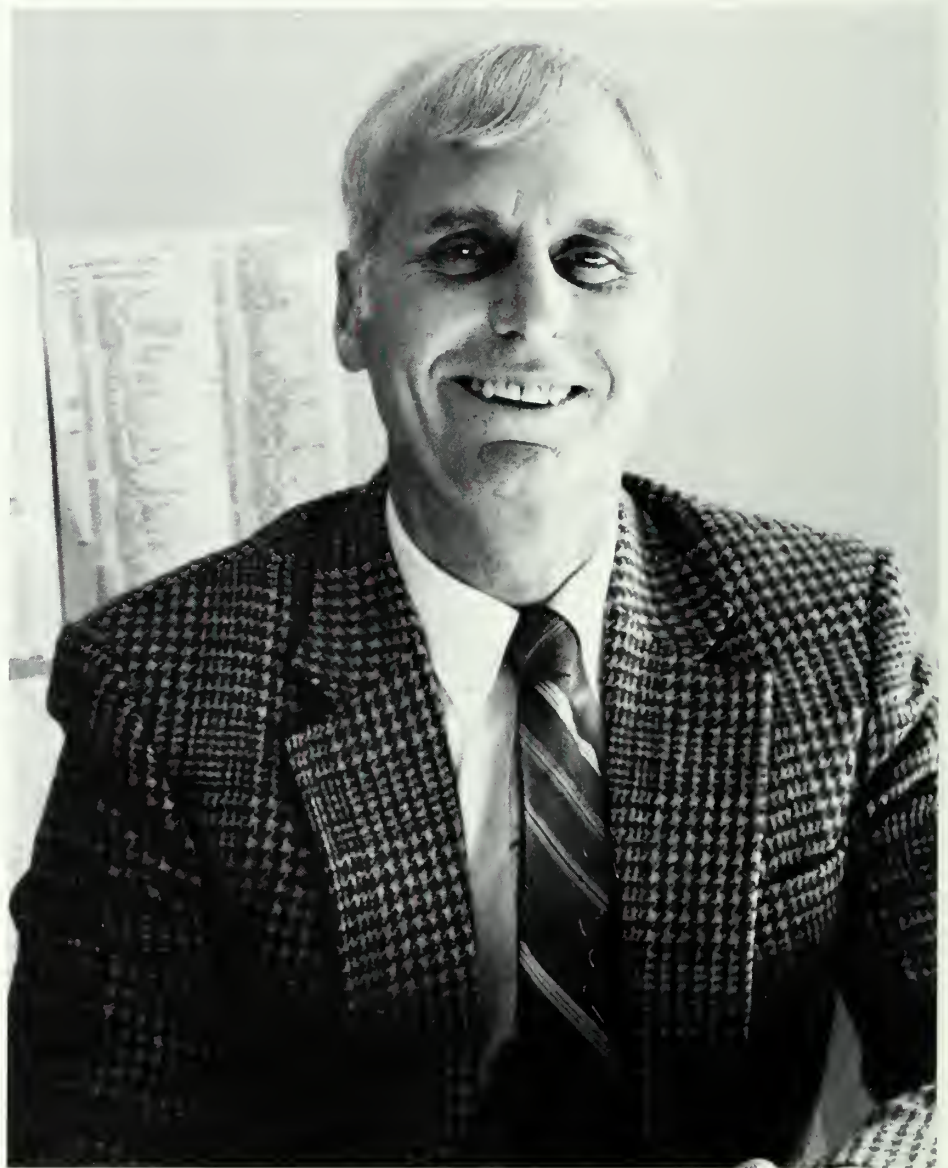

The time that you have eagerly anticipated has finally arrived. However, your final days at Arlington High School will be filled with mixed emotions. Feelings of sadness and happiness will both be present as each one of you realizes that graduation day is imminent. The following verse from an unknown author contains a message that if adhered to, will serve you well in the future.

Always Finish

If a task is once begun
Never leave it till it's done
Be the labor great or small
Do it well or not at all

LUNCH AT THIS PLACE

The bell finally rings. I gather my books which are sprawled all out on the floor, and run toward the lunch-room in an effort to get a seat. However, I should save my breath as I am soon caught behind a group of gossiping girls in the hallway. These girls move at speeds of under one mile an hour, and are impossible to pass because they are too busy talking about who's doing what to whom and where, to notice my frustration as I push my way through. Once by them I resume my frantic pace.

Finally I reach the lunch-room, not in one piece, mind you, but I reach the lunch-room. I put my books down on the half-full table and dart toward the line. After an endless wait, I reach "Flo", the lunch lady. "Can I have a pizza?" "Pizza, oh yes a pizza. one pizza." "Give me a pizza!" She puts a chicken sandwich on my tray. Too frustrated to explain, I push through the mass of people, and make my way to the cashier. Another endless wait, until at last, I reach the lady. She contemplates the two items I have on my tray for five minutes, and informs me that it's a dollar twenty-five. I give her two dollars. She puts the two figures on a pad of paper and begins to subtract. My eyes roll into very depths of my skull. "Seventy-five cents is your change." "Thank-you" I said and left.

I return to my table and someone is sitting next to my books. All the seats are taken. After four years of high-school, you'd think that kids would realize that your books mean you plan to sit there. Well, it looks like another day of sitting with a bunch of freshman. Yes, there is nothing like a healthy school lunch to get you back on your feet for your remaining two classes.

Hysteria...

*The time has come, the time I hate,
I need a date. It's getting late.
Who should I ask? Who will it be?
Ask him?!! Should I? But would he go with me?
I need a dress for a hundred or less.
Black or blue? Oh what a mess!
It's time to hit the Burlington Mall.
I'll buy some heels, but what if I fall?
Call for a limo, call real soon.
But what if the driver is really a goon?
Order a flower! What color, how big?
And what if he gives me a ribbon with a twig?
What will I do if I get there and see,
That ten other girls have the same dress as me?
And how will I feel when they play a slow song?
And I turn to find that my date is all gone!
But maybe I shouldn't worry and fret,
After all, it could be a night I'll never forget.*

Keep company with good men and you'll increase their number. All things are less dreadful than they seem. Wear a smile and have friends; wear a scowl and have wrinkles. A man shows his character by what he laughs at. An idle brain is the devil's workshop. We cannot all be masters. Goodbye and good luck!

Hollowed footsteps
 Echoing in empty halls
 Where lockers stand open
 Abandoned after years of use Once crammed with notebooks and paper
 Now staring vacantly
 At the silent classrooms
 Where voices had rung out
 Only days before
 And students had sat
 Toiling over papers
 And struggling with tests
 Where laughter could be heard
 Above the drone of a teacher's voice
 Or the hub-bub of the halls
 Millions of conversations
 Being carried on at once
 Until the bell rung
 And the students scampered
 Into the confines
 Of another class
 Yet now they are gone
 Through with the papers
 And the tests
 Ready to begin
 A new chapter in their lives
 Yet always hearing
 Their echoing footsteps

Ramble On

Leaves are falling all around
It's time I was on my way
And thanks to you I'm much obliged
For such a pleasant stay
But now it's time for me to go
The autumn moon lights my way
For now I smell the rain-and with it pain
And it's headed my way

Sometimes I grow so tired
But now I know there's one thing I gotta do

Ramble On
Now's the time the time is now
Sing my song
I'm going round the world, I'm gonna find my girl
On my way
I been this way ten years to the day
Ramble On-find the queen of all my dreams

Got no time for spreading news
The time has come to be gone

And though we've drank a thousand times
It's time to Ramble On

Mine's a tale that can't be told
By the freedom I hold dear

For years ago and day of old, when magic filled the air
'Twas in the darkest depths of Mordor-
I met a girl so fair, but Golum, the evil one, crept up and Slipped away with her

And there's nothing I can do now
I guess I keep on Rambling
I'm gonna shake
Sing my song
I'm going round the world I'm gonna find my girls
On my way
I've been this way ten years to the day
I'm gonna Ramble On

The fall leaves crumble
 Beneath my steps
 Their colors mixing
 Melting together
 In blazes of scarlet and orange
 As I walk the familiar path
 Cracks in the pavement
 Worn from millions of feet
 And years of weathering
 Creating a personality
 For the ancient cement
 The bricks of the building
 Dulled over the years
 The sparkling sun
 Shining on the white tower
 Bouncing off the face
 And the golden arms of the clock
 A bell rings
 Sounding through the crisp autumn air
 And leading me up the eroding stone stairs
 My eyes wander
 Seeing my school
 As it was long ago
 When friends filled the lobby
 And faces I knew
 Passed me in the hall
 And the sun shone brightly
 On our graduation day
 As we stood waiting
 To live our dreams
 And reach our desires
 To move apart
 Yet to stay together.
